

577 I vow this day, Lord, to be loyal

Poet unknown

Edmund Bourne (b. 1951)

$\text{♩} = 72$

1. I vow this day, Lord, to be loy - al, in
2. Ac - cept the vow of this, Your child, Lord; the 3. Con - trol my life and be the Ru - ler; my faith and du - ty to re - main. A - sol - emn oath of faith and trust, that heart es - tab - lish, make it true; my new I pledge my - self to Je sus, His I, when tried by sin, and tempt - ed, may con - duct to Your word re - sign - ing, to fav - our I will seek to gain. Now by Your still up - hold the pure and just. Young though I do Your will each day a - new. Joy in Your Spir - it would I be guid - ed to - am, to You I give all of my - pres - ence I shall find, serv - ing my ward e - ter - ni - ty.

 self in firm be - lief.
 Lord with heart and mind.